Figures reflect normalized earnings after the add-backs itemized in Section 8B. Detailed P&L statements, tax returns, and balance-sheet information are available to qualified buyers under NDA.

8. Recast / Normalized Earnings

Normalization Adjustments

The SDE and EBITDA figures shown throughout this document reflect normalized earnings after standard broker add-backs. Each adjustment is itemized and justified in Section 8B so that a buyer, lender, or independent accountant can verify every line during due diligence.

Typical Add-Backs

- Owner compensation above market rate — added back
- Owner health benefits, retirement, and auto — added back
- Depreciation and amortization — added back
- Interest expense (non-operating) — added back
- One-time, non-recurring, and discretionary expenses — added back
- Non-arm's-length payments (family, related parties) — added back
- Personal expenses (travel, meals, charitable) — added back

Quality of Earnings

High-quality earnings profile: 84% of add-backs in the latest year are recurring owner-specific or non-cash items (owner comp, benefits, D&A). These are standard, defensible adjustments — a buyer's lender will typically accept them when the underlying records support them.

Add-back mix (latest period): 84% recurring / 16% one-time & discretionary.

Note

A complete, itemized recast is available to qualified buyers under NDA. Figures should be verified by the buyer's accountant or lender.

8A. Multi-Year Trend Analysis

Revenue & Earnings Trend

Earnings trended upward over the period: revenue grew at a 9.1% compound annual rate and normalized SDE at 15.0% per year, reflecting genuine operating momentum rather than accounting adjustments.

Compound annual growth: Revenue 9.1% · SDE 15.0%.

Margin Profile

FY2024: SDE margin 25.9% · EBITDA margin 20.7%

FY2025: SDE margin 28.1% · EBITDA margin 23.1%

FY2026: SDE margin 28.8% · EBITDA margin 23.9%

Year-over-Year Growth

FY2024: revenue — YoY · SDE — YoY

FY2025: revenue 9.2% YoY · SDE 18.5% YoY

FY2026: revenue 9.0% YoY · SDE 11.7% YoY

8B. Add-Back Justification

Why Each Adjustment Is Made

Each add-back category is listed with its justification. These are standard, defensible normalization adjustments under IBBA-aligned sell-side practice; every line is traceable to source records.

Depreciation

Depreciation is a non-cash expense that does not represent an ongoing cash outflow. It is added back to reflect the cash earnings power of the business; capital expenditures are accounted for separately in the buyer's own replacement-cost analysis.

Discretionary / Non-essential

Discretionary expenses (entertainment, travel, conventions, club memberships, charitable gifts, and other non-essential costs) are at the discretion of the owner and are not required to operate the business. They are added back as owner-specific, non-essential spending.

Non-arm's-length Payments

Payments to related parties (family members, affiliated entities) above fair market value are non-arm's-length and are added back to reflect what an independent operator would pay for the same goods or services.

One-time / Non-recurring

One-time, non-recurring items (legal settlements, one-off consulting, relocation, start-up costs, COVID-related expenses, unusual repairs) do not reflect the sustainable earnings of the business and are added back.

Owner Benefits (health, retirement, auto)

Owner benefits (health insurance, retirement contributions, vehicle, life insurance, and other perquisites) are personal to the current owner and do not transfer to a new owner at the same level. They are added back as non-operating owner-specific costs.

Owner Salary & Wages

Owner compensation above the market rate for a replacement manager is added back because the going-concern value is based on the earnings a non-operating (or replacement-managed) owner would realize. The add-back reflects the excess of reported owner pay over the arms-length cost of a general manager.

9. Valuation Metrics

Multiple Analysis

Asking Price: $1,150,000

Price / Revenue: 0.81x

SDE Multiple: 2.83x

Price / EBITDA: 3.40x

Market context: Home care businesses typically transact at 4.0-5.0x EBITDA in the current market (Home care franchises & agencies typically trade 4-5x EBITDA). The asking-price multiple falls outside/at the edge of that band and should be read together with Sections 9A and 11.

9A. Market Comparables

Sector Transaction Benchmarks

Home care businesses typically transact at 4.0-5.0x EBITDA in the current market (Home care franchises & agencies typically trade 4-5x EBITDA).

Applying the band to normalized earnings of $406,200 yields an indicative range of $1,624,800 to $2,031,000 on a EBITDA basis.

Comparables are directional market evidence, not an appraisal. Final value is set by negotiation and confirmed through buyer diligence, financing capacity, and competitive bidding dynamics.

10. Industry Analysis

Market Overview

The Home Care Agency industry continues to demonstrate resilience with steady demand in the Charlotte, NC metro market. Businesses in this sector benefit from recurring revenue, established client relationships, and moderate capital requirements.

Current market data indicates that Home care businesses typically transact at 4.0-5.0x EBITDA (Home care franchises & agencies typically trade 4-5x EBITDA), providing a benchmark for the valuation metrics presented in Section 9.

Key Drivers

Demand is supported by durable end-market fundamentals and recurring consumption patterns. Technology adoption, operational efficiency, and service differentiation are the primary competitive levers.

11. Market Position & Competitive Landscape

Positioning

The business differentiates itself through: Licensed with a strong local reputation, tenured caregivers, low client churn, and established relationships with discharge planners.

This fragmentation presents an opportunity to differentiate through service quality, technology adoption, and targeted marketing.

Comparable Transactions

Transactions in this sector typically transact at 4.0-5.0x EBITDA (Home care market data).

Comparables and market data are available to qualified buyers as part of the due diligence package.

12. Growth Opportunities

Strategic Growth Levers

Expand the private-pay book, add a second office in an adjacent county, introduce specialized dementia-care packages, and grow referrals through hospital and rehab partnerships.

Upside Potential

These growth initiatives are largely incremental to current operations and require modest capital investment, offering attractive returns on investment.

13. Sales & Marketing

Current Approach

Current and planned customer acquisition activity: Expand the private-pay book, add a second office in an adjacent county, introduce specialized dementia-care packages, and grow referrals through hospital and rehab partnerships.

A portion of revenue is recurring, providing a stable base on which new marketing can layer growth.

Opportunity

There is meaningful upside from formalizing the marketing function, increasing digital presence, and implementing lead-generation systems.

14. Operations & Facilities

Operations

Operating model: BrightPath Home Care Services is a licensed home care agency serving the greater Charlotte, NC metro with companion and personal care services. The agency operates a recurring-care model with a tenured caregiver team, an active client census of ~140, and a referral network anchored by discharge planners and senior-living communities. Growth has been driven by demographic tailwinds and expansion of the private-pay book.

Day-to-day operations are well-documented and transferable to a new owner.

Facilities

Facilities: Leased 2,400 sq ft office in Charlotte; lease $4,100/mo through 2028 with renewal options.

Monthly lease cost: $4,100, expiring June 2028.

A detailed asset schedule is available to qualified buyers under NDA.

Inventory

Inventory is valued at approximately $8,000 and included in the purchase at market value.

16. Real Estate

Ownership

Real estate is not included in the sale. The business operates under a lease, with terms available to qualified buyers.

Current lease: $4,100/month through June 2028.

Implication

Potential buyers should evaluate financing structure and real estate strategy as part of their acquisition plan.

17. Employees & Management

Workforce

The business employs 18 full-time and 26 part-time team members supporting day-to-day operations and service delivery.

Owner involvement: approximately 45 hours per week.

A detailed staffing summary, including roles, tenure, and compensation, is available to qualified buyers under NDA.

Organizational Dependence

Operations are supported by the current owner. Compensation and management transition are addressed in Section 18.

18. Key Person Risk & Transition

Owner Dependence

Transition plan: Owner will provide 8 weeks of full-time transition plus up to 6 months of part-time consulting.

The owner will remain available for approximately 8 weeks of training and transition support.

Post-Sale Support

A transition assistance period is included to support the buyer, covering introductions to clients, vendor relationships, and operational handover.

Seller financing is available: Seller financing available for a qualified buyer; SBA 7(a) suitable.

19. Legal & Regulatory

Compliance

The business maintains the licenses, permits, and registrations required to operate as a Home Care Agency business in Charlotte, NC metro.

Regulatory context: Home care operations carry specific compliance obligations; current status is available to qualified buyers.

Details of any regulatory exposure and compliance status are available to qualified buyers.

Contracts

Material contracts (supplier, customer, employment) are transferable and available for review during due diligence.

20. Franchise & Licensing (if applicable)

Status

The business operates under its own brand and does not rely on third-party franchises or restrictive licenses for ongoing operations.

Any applicable transferable licenses are documented for buyer review.

21. Technology & Systems

Systems Stack

The business utilizes standard, transferable technology tools for operations, accounting, and customer management.

Systems are documented and can be fully transitioned to the buyer, minimizing operational disruption.

Data & IP

Customer data, operational documentation, and intellectual property transfer with the sale, subject to NDAs and industry regulations.

22. Risk Factors

Considerations for Buyers

- Customer concentration: Largest client is ~6% of revenue; top ten ~31%. No single-payer dependence.
- Owner involvement: the current owner dedicates ~45 hrs/week — addressed via the transition plan (8 weeks training).
- Market conditions: subject to industry and macroeconomic factors.
- Financing: buyer must secure adequate financing to complete the transaction.

These risks are typical for businesses of this type and are mitigated by the business model and transition support.

23. Investment Highlights

Key Strengths

Established business in the Home Care Agency sector with a track record of performance.

Revenue of $1,412,000 with normalized earnings of $406,200 and EBITDA of $337,800 (single source of truth: the recast).

Customer base: Largest client is ~6% of revenue; top ten ~31%. No single-payer dependence.

Competitive strengths: Licensed with a strong local reputation, tenured caregivers, low client churn, and established relationships with discharge planners.

Clear growth runway requiring modest incremental investment.

Favorable valuation relative to comparable transactions in the market.

24. Reasons for Sale

Owner Motivation

The owners are pursuing a sale for the following reasons: Owner is retiring after 14 years and wishes to transition the agency to a buyer who will continue serving the community and growing the private-pay book..

The sale is a lifestyle and succession decision, not a reflection of business performance or distress.
